

Dog Training Resources in and around Frederick

For comprehensive behavior problems especially those with a medical component, a veterinary behaviorist can help.

For new puppies, Sirius Dog Training, Puppy Kindergarten and online courses help you socialize your puppy so they will be less fearful later in life.

For a new dog group classes can be fun and help you and your dog learn to work together.

For particular training issues; house training, fears, bad leash manners—a dog trainer who is certified by American Pet Dog Trainers Association (CPDT), International Association of Canine Professionals or National Association of Obedience Instructors can work with you to solve specific problems.

You can get recommendations from neighbors and veterinarians and check local listings for other boarding kennels and pet trainers in your area. Veterinary behaviorists are licensed and CPDT trainers are certified by exam. Other dog trainers may offer their expertise based on experience and success. Always ask for references from satisfied customers.
