Executive Fitzwater Details Transition Process

Nearly 100 Residents to Serve on Working Committees

FREDERICK, Md. – Frederick County Executive Jessica Fitzwater today announced the structure of her Transition Team, which will help to set priorities for her Administration. Co-chaired by Toni Bowie and Rick Weldon, the Transition Team comprises eight committees: a senior advisory committee and seven working committees. Nearly 100 Frederick County residents will serve on a committee to help shape the county's future.

"This community-driven process will be guided by the same values as my Administration: inclusion, sustainability and accountability," Executive Fitzwater said. "Our goal is for this process to be collaborative, community-driven and open."

The team of senior advisors is composed of distinguished community leaders. They include Marvin Ausherman, Elizabeth Chung, Thad Goodman, Sue Hecht, Ted Luck, Helen Propheter, Joe Richardson, Dr. Olivia White, and Ron Young. Seven additional working committees have been established to examine and make recommendations. The topics, and their corresponding members as of today, are:
