County Recognizes Public Health Staff for National Public Health Week

Frederick, Md— People often think of public health as just health workers do so much more! Our public health workers our daily lives, from emergency preparedness to food safety, services to chronic disease prevention, mental and behavioral prevention and harm reduction, insurance assistance to birth and health services to pediatric dental clinic care. National Public time to say, “Thank you!” Please take a moment to officially during April 3-7!

In Frederick County, the Frederick County Health Department (FCHD) is the lead agency for the essential public health services. Our community became more familiar with FCHD during the COVID-19 pandemic response as thousands of tests and vaccinations were distributed. Our public health workers are dedicated to serving our community and have continued to provide their essential services to this day.

Our public health workers are skilled, patient, engaged workers who provide critical service to all in Frederick County, some often working early mornings or evenings. As you attend your appointments this week, be sure to help us honor our public health workers with a “Thank you!”
