County Executive Appoints Rosano to Lead Division of Emergency Management

FREDERICK, Md. – Frederick County Executive Jessica Fitzwater has appointed Anthony Rosano as Director of the Division of Emergency Management, effective immediately. In this role, he leads the Departments of Emergency Preparedness and Emergency Communications. Mr. Rosano took on the duties as Acting Director in January following the retirement of Jack Markey. The appointment was confirmed by the County Council this evening.

“I am pleased to be able to promote Tony to this critical position,” County Executive Fitzwater said. “Tony is experienced in all areas of the division, and I am confident he is the right person to lead Frederick County’s transition to Next Generation 911 and to keep our community safe.”

Mr. Rosano joined Frederick County Government in April 2021. Prior to serving as Acting Directory, he served as the division’s deputy director. He brings experience in emergency management, public safety, and homeland security. He is a Certified Emergency Manager. Before coming to Frederick County, Mr. Rosano worked at the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments and Howard County’s Office of Emergency Management. He also served as a contractor for the U.S. Marine Corps in Quantico, Virginia.

A resident of Mount Airy, Mr. Rosano earned his master’s degree in security and safety leadership from George Washington University, and his bachelor’s degree in business administration from the University of Maryland, Global Campus.
