Theradaptive Celebrates Expansion with Ribbon Cutting in Frederick County, Maryland

The new facility significantly increases operational space for the biotech company

FREDERICK, Md. – Theradaptive, a leader in protein-engineering technology, celebrated the grand opening of its new facility with a ribbon-cutting ceremony on September 19, 2024. The company, originally a graduate of the Frederick Innovative Technology Center Inc. (FITCI), will more than quadruple its operational space from 6,000 square feet to approximately 28,000 square feet, marking a major milestone in its growth trajectory.

“We are proud to have Theradaptive in Frederick County. Their expansion is a testament to the thriving biotech community we are cultivating,” said County Executive Jessica Fitzwater. “We are excited to see the continued growth and innovation that Theradaptive will bring to our county.”

Theradaptive recently treated the first patient in its OASIS spinal fusion clinical study, demonstrating the company's dedication to translating its technology into tangible benefits for patients and marking an exciting new phase in its clinical and product development efforts.

As a leader in protein engineering, Theradaptive is transforming proteins into targeted therapeutics that can be precisely delivered - a revolutionary approach that has wide-ranging applications in healthcare and biotechnology. The company's expansion underscores its commitment to advancing its cutting-edge technology and solidifying its presence in Frederick County.

“Frederick County has played a pivotal role in supporting Theradaptive's development. The Office of Economic Development in particular has been instrumental in fast-tracking our growth and providing ongoing support throughout the process,” said Theradaptive’s founder and CEO, Dr. Luis Alvarez.
