Public Encouraged to Provide Feedback on Frederick County Communications

FREDERICK, Md. – Members of the public are invited to take an online survey to share their thoughts on how Frederick County Government communicates with them. This survey will help improve the County's communication and outreach strategies.

“We want to strengthen our connections to the community by making sure the information we provide is clear and accessible to everyone,” County Executive Jessica Fitzwater said. “Your feedback will help us to improve our communication efforts to increase transparency and better serve the people of Frederick County.”

The survey aims to find out how well the County communicates, how clear and easy to understand the information is, and how people prefer to receive information. The results of the survey will help shape future communication strategies to meet the community's needs.

The survey is available in both English and Spanish:
